

Contents

Prologue	Fragmentary Histories of Hemispheric Art, 1910–1960	7
	Exhibiting Modern Art, 1910–1960	9
	Time Frames	11
	Divisions of the Story	13
	End of the Story	16
Chapter 1	The Expanding Mind: Symbolist Imagery in the Americas	19
	American Decadence and Redemption, c.1910–1930	20
	North American Visionaries	34
	Cannibals in the Southern Cone: Alejandro Xul Solar and Tarsila do Amaral	41
Chapter 2	A Sense of Place: Landscapes, Cityscapes, and Topographies of the Self	49
	The Year 1916	50
	Landscapes of the Mind	61
	Southwest Reveries	64
	Canadian Wilderness	69
	Mexican Volcanoes	73
	Cityscapes	74
	South of the U.S. Border	84
Chapter 3	Visualizing Blackness in the Americas	89
	Blackness in the Modernist Imagination	90
	Blackness, Dance, Music, and Ritual	96
	Black Faces, Black Bodies	103
	Labor and Struggle	110
	Black Abstractions	118
Chapter 4	Cross-Border Dialogues	125
	Revolutionary Art: Between Exaltation and Despair	126
	Public Arts on Both Sides of the Border	137
	Muralism, Teaching, and Learning	143
Chapter 5	Labor, Anxiety, and a New Social Order	153
	Anxiety	156
	Lynchings	159

	Clouds of War	165
	Eye Witness	169
	Labor and Exile	174
	Exile and Migrations	183
Chapter 6	The Liberated Line: Toward Abstracted Form	187
	Alternative Histories	192
	Abstracted Nature	200
	Surrealism into Abstraction	207
	Site-Specific Abstraction	214
Chapter 7	The Cube, Sphere, and Cone: Constructed Abstractions in the Americas	223
	American Responses to Geometric Form, c.1910–1920	225
	Joaquín Torres-García, the Torres-García Workshop, and Arithmetical Proportion	229
	Geometric Manhattan	234
	Río de la Plata: Beyond Torres—Experimentation in the 1940s	237
	Brazil Builds	244
	Havana—Paris—New York—Montreal	250
Chapter 8	Modern Visionaries and the Intuitive Imagination	265
	Trans-American Surrealism	268
	The 1940s and 50s in Latin America: Surrealist Affinities	270
	From Mexico to Manhattan and Beyond	285
	Dance, Visual Art, and Visionary Modernity	289
	Popular Arts, the Intuitive Eye, and Modernity	292
Epilogue	Into the Future	301
	Pop Art and Revolution	301
	Art for All	307
	Environments and Total Participation	310
	Art and Terror	312
	Endnotes	316
	Further Reading	327
	Index	329
	Picture Credits	335